Introduction

The IB Diploma program is filled with challenges that push you to be a better student and a better citizen of the world. You are about to embark on another one of them- the extended essay. The EE is a requirement for an IB diploma. It is in the center of the curriculum circle along with TOK and CAS. It is an in-depth study of a focused topic chosen from the list of available Diploma Programme subjects. This is normally one of your six chosen subjects. It is intended to promote academic research and writing skills, providing you with an opportunity to engage in personal research in a topic of your own choice. This leads to a major piece of formally presented, structured writing and reflection on the process. Basically, the extended essay is an independent, self-directed formal piece of sustained academic writing containing no more than 4,000 words accompanied by a reflection form of no more than 500 words.

Assessment Objectives

Knowledge and understanding	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • of the topic chosen and the research question posed • of subject specific terminology and/or concepts • of relevant and/or appropriate research sources and/or methods used to gather information
Application and analysis	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • To select and apply research that is relevant and appropriate to the research question. • To analyze the research effectively and focus on the research question.
Synthesis and evaluation	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • To be able to discuss the research in terms of a clear and coherent reasoned argument • To be able to critically evaluate the arguments presented in the essay. • To be able to reflect on and evaluate the research process.
A variety of (research) skills	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • To be able to present information in an appropriate academic format. • To understand and demonstrate academic integrity.

You can earn up to 3 points for your Extended Essay and TOK paper as this chart shows. Please note that a failing grade on the extended essay, being accused of academic dishonesty, or failing to turn in an extended essay at all will result in failing to earn an IB diploma no matter how high your test scores may be, so it mandates removal from the IB program in your senior year.

March 26-28 Introduction, Directions & Supervisor Request	Attend the introduction to the EE with Mrs. Murray (your TOK class will come to the media center). She will go over the directions, research and MLA information, and you will complete the following items. By the end of the day Wednesday, you should have completed the following: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. Returned the signed EE Contract (end of this packet) to Mrs. Murray! 2. Read this direction packet. 3. Decided upon a general subject area. 4. Read the subject area directions for the subject you are interested in on www.SpruceCreekIB.weebly.com under directions. 5. Read the sample EEs in your chosen subject area on the website. 6. E-mailed your first-choice supervisor and asked if they would supervise you. Every teacher's e-mail can be found on the IB website under Parents -> Teacher Phone and Email Directory. You are encouraged to stop by to see them in person too. The e-mail should tell them: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • What subject area you plan to write in. • What sparked your interest in this chosen subject area. • Any background reading you may have done. • A provisional research question that is viable with the subject criteria. • Why you want to work with them.
March 28	Fill out the subject and supervisor form on www.SpruceCreekIB.weebly.com as soon as you have emailed your potential supervisor. At any point after submitting this form, if you must change who you are working with, see Mrs. Murray or email her at shmurray@volusia.k12.fl.us.
March 29-30 Supervisor Approval	Your supervisor will reply to your e-mail telling you if they will work with you or if they are full or think you would be better suited to a different subject area. If they do not reply, please go see them in person BEFORE FRIDAY. Ask when you will be able to have your first meeting. THEY ARE NOT RESPONSIBLE FOR FINDING YOU! Make sure they have any information they need (e-mail, phone number, etc.) to contact you.
April 2	EE Supervisors will meet after school to ensure everyone is prepared to assist you.
April 3-13 Check-In Session 1: Initial Ideas	Attend your first check-in meeting with your supervisor (this may be a group meeting) to discuss the general subject area that you would like to research. Be prepared to narrow your topic down. If you are not prepared to have an intelligent conversation with your supervisor about your possible topic, they will not be able to help you! YOU WILL RECEIVE THE LOGIN INFORMATION FOR YOUR TURNITIN ACCOUNT AT THIS MEETING. See Mrs. Murray or your supervisor if you need the login.

April 9-13 Narrow Research Question & Locate Sources	If time permits, you will be brought to the media center during TOK for one or two periods of research this week to help you narrow your general topic to a more specific research question or further your background reading if you have already chosen a question. You will spend the time exploring the databases and finding possible sources. Note that this period of class time is intended to give you a jumpstart, but it is not the only time you should spend narrowing a topic down.
April 16-27 Check-In Session 2: Approval of Research Question	Once you are ready with a research question, meet with or contact your supervisor via e-mail (depending upon what they told you to do) to discuss your proposed research question. They will help you consider: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • If your research question is viable with the subject criteria • If you will be able to collect sufficient resources to effectively answer the research question • If you need to revise the question to ensure it promotes an analytical approach or if you need a new focus for the question completely
Research Question Due April 30th!	Once your supervisor has approved your research question, enter it into the Research Question Form on www.SpruceCreekIB.weebly.com . Note: IB does NOT permit two students to write on the same topic, so the student who submitted their approved question first will get to keep the topic. Significant changes to the research question will need to be reapproved throughout the process. Remember- a research question that doesn't fit the subject area guarantees a failing grade even if the paper is amazing! Read your directions from IB World on the website.
May 1-18 IB EXAMS: Use Spare Time to Gather Sources and Build Background Knowledge	READ! RESEARCH! BUILD BACKGROUND KNOWLEDGE! FIND SOURCES! This is your time to do all the legwork for the paper. You will have spare time in some classes during the month of IB exams to use for this purpose. Ultimately your goal is to locate at least 5 possible sources that you could use for your paper (although the final number you use may be more or less depending upon the subject area you chose- your supervisor will guide you) and move into beginning the rough draft of your paper. *If you are doing an experiment-based topic, use this time to set up your plan for your experiment and conduct the background research. If you are doing SSTP, conduct background reading and create a rough outline for a possible back-up topic if your SSTP experience does not lend itself to an EE.
May 21-25 Media Research	You will spend at least 1 day in the media center with your TOK class to work on your paper.
May 25th 1000 Word Draft and Works Cited Due	Submit a 1000-word early draft with a bibliography including at least 5 sources to www.turnitin.com and your supervising teacher. Your 1000 words can be any portion of your paper and does not need to be perfect, just a start that your supervisor can read. Your draft must contain: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • 1000 words of text not including your works cited • the full citation information in MLA format for 5 likely sources for your paper, even if you did not use them yet in what you wrote The 1000-word draft will count as a grade in TOK. *If you are doing an experiment-based topic, complete your experiment and background research- turn in your results for your early draft. If you are doing SSTP, conduct background reading and create a rough outline for a possible back-up topic if your SSTP experience does not lend itself to an EE. See your supervisor for more guidance.

May 21- 30 Supervisor Meeting FIRST FORMAL REFLECTION SESSION	As soon as you have a completed 1000-word draft, meet with your supervisor to discuss your progress. Give your supervisor a copy of the draft to see if you appear to be on the right track. Talk about what you need to do from here. Some of the things you will discuss and reflect about at this meeting include: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Have you developed a thorough working research question? • Are there any ethical issues in relation to the intended topic and proposed research methods? • Do you have a good grounding in the relevant theories, methodologies or findings of the subject? • Have you found scholarly, relevant sources? • Do you have a good framework for your paper? • Do you have a solid plan for how to tackle this over the summer? This is your first reflection session
May 30	Submit your 1st reflection paragraph to Turnitin! Your first formal reflection session must be documented in a paragraph of approximately 100-150 words on your reflections on planning and progress form located on sprucecreekib.weebly.com under Students → Extended Essay. Save the electronic document in a safe space (Office365) because you will add to it.
May 31- June 1	EXTENDED ESSAY LIBRARY WORK DAYS TAKE ONE!!! Want to enjoy your summer without working on your EE?? Come spend these days in the media center finishing your rough draft while you have help! You could easily complete the draft in these two days!
Summer	Complete your entire rough draft including the table of contents and works cited. Know that any significant changes in your research question MUST be reapproved by your supervisor and Mrs. Murray before you move forward.
June 1-August 10 Check-In Session 3	While you are working on your paper, you are expected to be periodically checking in with your supervising teacher and/or your EE coordinator if you are unable to contact your supervisor. Ask questions, share individual paragraphs for feedback, ask if a particular source seems like a good one.....do not allow yourself to fall into the trap of writing a terrible paper and losing your IB diploma because you didn't use the guidance you have available. This is ultimately an independent process, but that does not mean you are going it alone! Remember, supervisors are not required to be at your disposal all summer, which is why we started this process early. Be sure that you ask your supervisor when and how to contact them over the summer.
August 7-10	EXTENDED ESSAY LIBRARY WORK DAYS TAKE TWO!!! You are welcome in the media center to work.

August 15-17	You will be assigned 2 of your peer's papers to complete a peer review/check within www.turnitin.com and a self-review where you answer the same questions for your own paper. You must complete the 3 assigned reviews. This is a grade in your senior English class. Meet with your supervisor and go over suggested revisions. Remember that the supervisor is not allowed to edit your paper; they are there to guide you and tell you what areas you need to look at. It is suggested that you take your own printed copy of your paper and mark it up as they tell you what corrections to make! Pay close attention to issues related to citation and subject as they can both cause failing conditions for your paper and/or risk your diploma. This is your second reflection session and must be documented in a paragraph of approximately 150-200 words on your reflections on planning and progress form.
September 28	Submit your second reflection to Turnitin
Sept 28- Oct 30 Revision	Spend time making suggested revisions as soon as possible after your meeting with your supervisor. If you are able to, it is STRONGLY recommended that you complete revisions quickly and submit your final EE early to avoid any technical glitches. Remember, an E on the paper will mean no IB diploma and no Bright Futures Scholarship, and the stronger your score is the more point you earn, so make sure you revise as needed! Revision is not optional.
October 31st 7:25am	FINAL EE DEADLINE OCTOBER 31st at 7:25am! Students must turn in one final electronic copy of the paper before 1st period! This can be turned in the next day without impacting whether you have met the deadline. If a final version of the essay has not been turned in by this deadline, a meeting will be scheduled with parents and the student will be put on probation from the IB diploma program and/or be immediately removed from IB depending on the situation.

You must also fill out your final reflection on your Reflections on Planning and Progress log after this meeting. This is your final reflection session and must be documented in a paragraph of approximately 150-250 words on your reflections on planning and progress form. REMEMBER, this reflection paper is 6 points on the rubric! Your supervisor will have a conversation with you

	where he or she asks you questions to determine: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • What research skills and/or conceptual understanding have you acquired through the completion of the EE? • What other skills such as time management, decision-making or thinking skills have you learned? • What have you learned about the topic, the research process and your own learning and any new questions you have uncovered? • What do you think were successes in this process? What was the most rewarding aspect of the entire process? • How will this experience prepare you for future work of this nature? • What is the personal significance of the work you have done?
January 8 Submit Your Reflections Log	Following the Viva Voce, you must polish your Reflections on Planning and Progress and make sure it is no longer than 500 words combined. Once it is finished, e-mail your completed Reflections on Planning and Progress Log to your supervising teacher & upload your completed portion (the supervisor portion will be blank) to Turnitin! Make sure you have indicated the correct dates you met in the correct spaces. You are limited to 500 words. The supervisor adds the final comment and gives it to the IB office for upload.
January 8-Feb 1	Supervising teachers will complete their portion of the reflection and email it to Mrs. Copp along with your predicted grade.
February	If it is determined that your paper will be a failing paper even after you have attempted to make revisions, you may be asked to revise again. If they have already told you that it was a failing paper and you refuse to make the revisions, your paper can't be uploaded to IB, so the district mandates your removal from the program.

SUBJECT AREAS

Your Extended Essay can be written in any of your chosen subjects for the IB Diploma. You cannot write on any subject you have used for an IA or any other assignment. It is not recommended that students write in a subject area that they have not studied in an IB class.

Group 1: Studies in Language and Literature (English)

Globally in 2017 there were 15,468 Essays: 20.65% A, 29.00% B, 33.16% C, 15.59% D, 0.94% E, 0.66% No Grade

Category 1 or 2—Literary Analysis: A group 1 paper is a literary analysis with an emphasis on criticism. Within group 1, category 1 papers are studies of one or more literary works originally written in English. Category 2 papers analyze two or more literary works where at least one was originally written in English and the other(s) were originally written in another language. Students' chosen text(s) should be of sufficient literary merit to sustain in-depth analysis. (Example: The use of comic characters to explore serious issues in Shakespeare's Measure for Measure and King Lear) Works of fiction and non-fiction can be considered as part of literary investigations if the works in question are of literary merit. Candidates should ensure that the work that they wish to investigate has a body of established literary criticism before deciding that the work is worthy of investigation. The availability of secondary sources to support arguments is vital.

Category 3- Language: Category 3 papers are still analysis papers with an emphasis on criticism, but they are studies in language based on one or more texts originally written in English. A category 3 EE emphasizes the production and reception of texts in social, historical and/or cultural contexts. (Example: The use of language and other persuasive techniques to confront the ideology of the United States by Malcolm X and other civil rights activists.) A category 3 studies in language and literature EE gives students the opportunity to demonstrate skills of textual analysis by considering how language, culture and/or context influence the ways in which meaning is constructed in texts and examine critically the different relationships and interactions that exist between texts, audiences and purposes. For the purpose of a category 3 language EE, "texts" include the widest range of oral, written and visual materials present in society including single and multiple images with or without written text; literary written texts and text extracts; media texts like advertising campaigns, films, radio and television programs and their scripts; and electronic texts that share aspects of a number of media texts, eg video-sharing websites, web pages, SMS messages, blogs, wikis and tweets.

Group 2: Language Acquisition (Spanish or French)

Globally in 2017 there were 3,960 Essays: 23.06% A, 25.96% B, 32.93% C, 16.21% D, 0.91% E, 0.93% No Grade

A Group 2 Extended Essay must be written in the language in which it is registered and focused on matters related to the target culture. Students are assessed their skills in research and analysis, not their language proficiency.

Category 1- Language: The essay should be a specific analysis of the language (its use, structure and so on), normally related to its cultural context or a specific text. (Ex: To what extent does geography influence the use of French idiomatic expressions?)

Category 2- Culture and Society: 2(a): Essays of a socio-cultural nature about the impact of a cultural change on language: The essay should consist of a cultural analysis of the impact of an issue on the form or use of the language. (Ex: How has the globalization of social media like Twitter affected the increased usage of political language among students in two international schools in Mexico?) 2(b): Essays of a general cultural nature based on specific cultural artifacts: The essay should be an analysis of a more general cultural nature but be specific to a country or community where the language is spoken. Topics that are too broad and could apply to many cultures (such as globalization, the death penalty or eating disorders) are inappropriate. Essays of a general cultural nature must be based on specific cultural artifacts. (Ex: Women's traditional roles in Spain and the role the media plays in perpetuating them.)

Category 3-Analysis: The essay should be an analysis of a literary type, based on a specific work or works of literature exclusively from the target language. In the case of a comparison of texts, all texts must originally have been written in the target language. (Ex: How does Camus use sensory imagery in his novel L'Étranger?)

Group 3: Individuals and Societies (Social Sciences)

Globally in 2017 there were 39,601 Essays: 7.65% A, 19.67% B, 38.25% C, 29.93% D, 3.30% E, 1.21% No Grade

Economics: Students should undertake an essay that uses the principles of economics as a basis for researching a particular topic. (Ex: The effect of a fall in the exchange rate of the US dollar and its effect on the tourist industry in Orlando, Florida.) They may take a recent economic event, issue or policy, gather data and apply economic theories, models and tools to evaluate it. Topics should not be historical. They should relate to economic information, policies, outcomes or events that are no more than approximately five years old. Essays should also not be based on future economic events as it would be entirely speculative and unsupported.

History: In-depth research in a historical area (at least 10 years in the past) of genuine interest. The topic must focus on the human past, be worthy of study, and lend itself to systematic investigation in line with published assessment criteria. (Ex. An evaluation of the success of denazification carried out in the US zone of Germany 1945–48.) It can NOT be even remotely related to your history IA. The topic can relate to social history items like music and sports although we do not recommend it because it is very difficult to write a higher-level analysis on a more popular topic. Whatever you choose should not be trivial in nature. It should provide an opportunity for critical analysis of source material, and not depend on summarizing general secondary sources (such as textbooks and encyclopedias). Such an approach is likely to produce an essay that is essentially narrative or descriptive.

Psychology: A psychology extended essay should be an investigative, analytical argument on a topic in psychology of genuine interest. This is not an experimental paper and data collection is not appropriate at all. Students must have taken psychology to write a psychology extended essay. (Ex. An examination of whether and how sleep contributes to learning.) To develop a well-rounded understanding of their topic, students should carefully evaluate any research they cite. The essay should offer a balanced argument in response to the research question. Students should demonstrate critical awareness and understanding of the material they use. They should analyze rather than simply describe. They need to apply what they have read to the research question rather than report the information.

Group 4: Sciences

Globally in 2017 there were 11,719 Essays: 8.67% A, 22.17% B, 40.13% C, 25.65% D, 2.51% E, 0.87% No Grade

Biology: A biology extended essay should incorporate biological theory and emphasize the essential nature of the subject. Essays in biology may be based on data collected by the student or information obtained from literature, ideally from primary sources, and manipulated or analyzed in an original way by the student.

Chemistry: A chemistry extended essay has a clear chemical emphasis. The essay may be based on literature, theoretical models or experimental data, but students are strongly encouraged to undertake experimental work as part of their research.

Physics: An extended essay in physics should have a basis in physical theory and emphasize the essential nature of the subject. The student must be personally involved with the subject matter and not be simply an informant. Essays in physics may be based on data collected by the student or information obtained from literature, ideally from primary sources, and manipulated or analyzed in an original way by the student.

Group 5: Mathematics

Globally in 2017 there were 1,883 Essays: 19.28% A, 31.92% B, 32.40% C, 14.07% D, 1.17% E, 1.17% No Grade 1.17%

Mathematics: An extended essay in mathematics may be written on any topic that has a mathematical focus and need not be confined to the theory of mathematics itself. Categories:

- The applicability of mathematics to solve both real and abstract problems
- The beauty of mathematics—eg geometry or fractal theory
- The elegance of mathematics in the proving of theorems—eg number theory
- The history of mathematics: the origin and subsequent development of a branch of mathematics over a period of time, measured in tens, hundreds or thousands of years
- The effect of technology on mathematics
- Forging links between different branches of mathematics.

Group 6: The Arts

Globally in 2017 there were 5,740 Essays: 17.79% A, 19.81% B, 34.49% C, 24.11% D, 2.67% E, 1.13% No Grade

Dance: Dance as expressive movement with intent, purpose and form that communicates through the body and gesture of the dancer should be at the heart of an extended essay in dance. A particular dance or a particular style of dance may be chosen as the core focus of the essay. Students should strive for a coherent verbal analysis and interpretation of one or more dances in relation to the chosen research question.

Music: Real music should be at the heart of an extended essay in music. This means that particular pieces of music should be chosen as the core focus of the essay. Students should strive for a coherent verbal analysis and interpretation of one or more pieces of music in relation to the chosen research question.

Visual Arts: A visual arts extended essay will be a structured piece of writing that addresses a particular issue or research question appropriate to the visual arts (broadly defined also to include architecture, design and contemporary forms of visual culture).

Interdisciplinary: World Studies

Globally in 2017 there were 1,264 Essays: 6.49% A, 19.94% B, 42.09% C, 28.01% D, 2.77% E, 0.71% No Grade

Environmental Systems and Societies: An ESS extended essay provides students with an opportunity to explore an environmental topic or issue of particular interest or relevance to themselves and their localities. This is a multidisciplinary research topic that may be investigated either through primary data collection or secondary data collection. The topic should allow you to show some grasp of how both environmental systems and societies function in the relationship under study.

World Studies: An extended essay in world studies provides students with an opportunity to undertake an in-depth, interdisciplinary study of an issue of contemporary global significance. Your World Studies EE must include two different subject areas (which you must state) and fit into one of the following categories: conflict, peace and security; culture, language and identity; environmental and/or economic sustainability; equality and inequality; health and development; science, technology and society.

PAPER REQUIREMENTS

Word Count

4,000 is the maximum including the introduction, body, conclusion and quotations. There is not a minimum from IB, but it is difficult to score well with fewer than 3,000 words, so think of 3,000 words as your minimum. The word count does NOT include the acknowledgments, table of contents, maps, charts, diagrams, annotated illustrations and tables, equations, formulas and calculations, citations, works cited or appendices. Essays containing more than 4,000 words are subject to penalties and examiners are not required to read material in excess of the word limit.

Researcher's Reflection Space

You are encouraged to include up to 9 pages of notes taken during the research process in your appendix. Title it the Researcher's Reflection Space and put dates and times that you conducted research along with your notes about different sources you read, etc. See the examples on the www.SpruceCreekIB.weebly.com. Including this in your appendix is optional but can help you earn maximum points for reflection.

Structure

Listed here are the required elements of the extended essay in order. The model for the extended essay is a paper in an academic journal. THIS YEAR IS THE FIRST YEAR FOR THE NEW FORMAT, SO EXAMPLES ONLINE DO NOT HAVE THE SAME ELEMENTS. Please note the order in which the elements are presented here is not necessarily the order in which they should be written.

Table of Contents

Body (development/methods/results)

Appendices (if needed- the examiner is not required to read the appendices)

How to Include Diagrams and Illustrations

Graphs, diagrams, tables and maps are effective only if they are clearly labeled and can be interpreted with ease. All such material that is incorporated into the extended essay must be directly related to the text and acknowledged where appropriate.

Plagiarism, Citation and Academic Honesty

An extended essay must reflect intellectual honesty in research practices and provide the reader with the exact sources of quotations, ideas and points of view through accurate bibliographies and referencing. Failure to comply with this requirement will be viewed as plagiarism and will, therefore, be treated as a case of academic misconduct. A works cited is an alphabetical list of every source used to research and write the essay. Sources that are not cited in the body of the essay, but were important in informing the approach taken, should be cited in the introduction or in an acknowledgment. The works cited should list only those sources cited.

FORMING A RESEARCH QUESTION

Developing a narrow, focused research question is an integral part of your extended essay process. A research question will provide a path to guide you through your research and writing.

Step 1. Choose your subject area	Which subject area is of most personal interest to you? Is there something you are especially curious about in one of your IB courses?
Step 2. Choose a topic that interests you	Describe your work in one sentence. I want to learn about _____. Example: I want to learn about public funding for the arts.
Step 3. Suggest a question	Try to describe your research by developing a question that specifies something about your topic. I am studying _____ because I want to find out (who, what, when, where, whether, why or how) _____. Example: I am studying public funding for the arts because I want to find out how accessible the arts are to those people who are on low incomes. Direct question: To what extent are the arts accessible to people who belong to the class of the working poor? Include a command term from your subject area to help form the research question. Will you be able to argue a specific position? What are some possible issues or arguments?
Step 4. Evaluate your question	Answer the questions: Is there a range of perspectives on this topic? Does the research question allow for analysis, evaluation and the development of a reasoned argument? I am studying _____ because I want to find out _____ in order to understand (how, why or whether) _____. Example: I am studying public funding for the arts because I want to find out how accessible the arts are to the working poor so I can determine whether tax dollars support cultural enrichment for all citizens regardless of their socio-economic status.
Step 5. Restate your question	Asking the question in a different way might help you view your topic in a different way. How does analyzing ... To what extent ...
Step 6. Review with your supervisor	Is your supervisor able to understand the nature of your research? Is it clear to your supervisor how and why your topic is relevant in your subject area?
Step 7. Reflection	If you can adequately respond to the “so what?” question, you may be on your way to a clear and focused research question using your initial topic idea. Do that here: _____

You must now start some preliminary reading around the issue or topic. Remember that you will most likely need to revise your research question once you start to undertake your research. In this sense your research question should always be considered provisional until you have enough research data to make a reasoned argument.

FORMAL VS. INFORMAL WRITING

When writing your extended essay you should use language that is formal and academic in tone. The chart below gives you some idea of the differences between informal and formal essays.

Characteristic	Informal essay (sometimes also called personal or familiar essay)	Formal essay
Author's viewpoint	Usually uses first-person pronoun; directly addresses the reader.	Usually uses third-person pronoun.
Subject/content: Sources of evidence	Frequently drawn from life of the student and everyday events.	More commonly drawn from shared historical events or literature or other forms of knowledge.
Tone	Frequently more personal and subjective; may be ironic, amusing, thoughtful, angry or serious; conversational and casual.	Tends to be removed from the subject and appears to be objective; tends to hold emotions in check and express concerns through strong arguments and powerful rhetorical devices.
Structure	Appears to be more loosely structured.	Follows a structure that focuses on the development of one clear argument at a time to support a clearly stated thesis.
Location of the research purpose/question	May appear anywhere in the essay; may not be explicitly stated.	Stated explicitly, generally located in the first or second paragraph of the essay.
Vocabulary	Everyday words; slang and colloquialisms; contractions; uses "you" and "I".	Technical words according to subject; no slang or contractions; avoids "you" and "I" (the use of "I" in the introduction and conclusion of an essay is permitted but in the body of the essay is best avoided in order to maintain an academic tone).
Purpose	Entertainment; gentle reflection.	Presentation of facts and ideas with critical evaluation, arguing a point and analysing in detail.

English Example

NO	I decided to write an extended essay on how hip-hop works as protest of the lower classes because I think the music is cool and really gets people dancing, inspiring those people who wouldn't normally think there's any point in being against anything to listen to the message. Being an enthusiastic hip-hop dancer myself, I really wanted to find out some more about this.
YES	This extended essay on how the lyrics of hip-hop developed as a form of protest against a society segregating the working classes is based on the premise of the music having a distinct and energizing rhythm that really inspires people to move, thereby reaching out to audiences who wouldn't normally believe in protest, let alone speak out in public. Thus, the music becomes a vehicle for words of protest that can and indeed have changed the world. My own experience with dancing hip-hop at a relatively advanced and skilled level fueled my desire to research this topic in more depth.

Biology Example

NO	Biology has always been a passion of mine. Ever since I was searching for frogspawn in my grandparent’s pond as a four-year-old and annoying my mum with a battery of jam jars on the window sill in which I was trying to raise tadpoles I have been fascinated with observing nature in detail. Even in English, reading Death of a Naturalist by Seamus Heaney, I found myself thinking up an experiment to do with dragonflies and bluebottles. I have a fish tank at home with three different sorts of fish. I’ve noticed that they all respond differently when I feed them. I’m wondering what else is different in their behaviour so, in this extended essay, I’m going to find out how they react to light.
YES	This extended essay is focused on investigating the phototactic responses of three different species of fish that occupy different areas of an aquarium: danios (Danio rerio), which group near the surface of the water, black skirt tetra (Gymnocorymbus ternetzi), which swim in the middle of the tank, and kuhli loach (Pangio kuhlii), which swim near the bottom of the tank. It is anticipated that they will respond differently to light according to their niche within the tank. The outcome of my investigation could inform the feeding strategy used for different fish as well as highlight the adaptive nature of taxic response in fish. In addition, this essay may help to inspire some fellow students to view their fish with new interest, and consider their own strategies in populating a fish tank.

Psychology Example

NO	When I go into a supermarket there is always gentle background music playing, although in the clothes shops I like it is always loud pop music. At breakfast my dad likes to listen to Rossini string sonatas, while my little brother has heavy metal on his iPod and will head-bang his way through a bowl of cornflakes. My extended essay is trying to research why people rely on certain types of music to influence their mood and how music is used in this way for advertising. I am not sure if there is a connection and whether the music does affect, for example, people’s shopping habits, but it will be interesting to try to find out, especially to see if different peoples’ brains are wired differently when it comes to music.
YES	This extended essay intends to investigate whether there is a causal relationship between music listened to and the mood of individuals. Additionally, it will seek to explore whether this relationship is used in advertising to encourage people to spend money.

Dos and don’ts: A summary

 Do:	 Do not:
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Make your writing clear and to the point. • Try linking ideas with these expressions: in addition, nevertheless, on the other hand, by contrast, although, alternatively. • Include some complex sentences in your writing. • Try using semi-colons if you feel confident about using them correctly. 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Don’t use “well” or “you know” or “anyway” or “like I just said” or any phrase that sounds like you are having a friendly chat. • Avoid using “And”, “But”, “Because” or “So” at the beginning of a sentence. • Keep exclamation marks to a minimum!!! • Words like “nice” and “a lot” have no power. Try to think of more descriptive words, for example “delicious” or “endless”.

SCHS MLA and APA Quick Guide

www.SpruceCreekMedia.weebly.com

Extended Essay Paper Format Basics

	MLA	APA
When do I use MLA vs. APA?	IB World allows you to use ANY style guide for your extended essay as long as you are consistent, but they highly recommend schools choose one and stick with it. At SCHS, we have chosen a modified version of MLA, so use the MLA column unless your supervising teacher insists that you need to use APA for your citations and references!
Font	12 point Times New Roman or Arial
Line Spaces	Double Spaced
Margins	1" Margins
Header Location	Look for how to insert a header into your document. On Word it is under "Insert" and "Header." The header will default to ½" from the top of the page, which is what you need for both MLA and APA. There is also an insert page number tool.
What is in the Header?	Page Number (The EE requires no identifying marks, so no last name.)
Subheadings In Text	You can use subheadings if you need to, but they are not encouraged in the rubric. If you do use subheadings, be sure that they do not resemble IA subheadings and that they enhance the flow of your essay, not detract from the flow.
Appendices	The grader is not required to read the appendices and they should not contain anything essential to the understanding of your paper, but they can be included at the end if needed.

Parenthetical Citation/ In-Text Citations

	MLA	APA
When to cite in the text	Each time you use information from a source (whether a direct quote or something you have put into your own words), you must cite it in the body of the paper at the end of the sentence before the period. If you have several sentences with information from the same source in a row, you can cite when shift sources and/or start a new paragraph. If you use a quote, you must cite the source at the end of the quote.
How to cite in the text	(Last name page number). Use the last name and page in parenthesis at the end of the sentence (Smith 12). If your reference the author's name in the actual text, use just the page number in parenthesis at the end of the sentence (12). No page? Leave it out (Smith). No author? Shortened title in quotes or italics depending upon how it appears in your reference page ("Title" 12) or (Title 10).	(Last name, year of publication). Author's last name, comma, and the year the material was published (Smith, 2010). According to Smith (2010), if you reference the author's name in the actual text for APA format, only refer to them by their last name and just use the year in parenthesis after the author's name.

End-of-Text Citation Basics

	MLA	APA
Reference List	At the END of the paper on its own page. All sources used for the paper MUST be listed. Listed alphabetically using the first word in each citation (usually the author's last name).
Reference List Title	Titled "Works Cited"	Titled "References"
Author Names	Last name, first name (Doe, John)	Last name, first initial (Doe, J.)
Multiple Authors	Spell out available names alphabetically up to 3 authors. First author is last name first, rest are first then last. More than 3, list first 3 and put "et al" at the end.	Lists all authors alphabetically, but only using the last name, first initial.
Indentation	Uses a hanging indent (first line not indented, subsequent lines are indented) for each source.
Resources for Creating Reference List	If you are using an electronic database, there is usually a button that will give you the citation formatted for the correct style guide, but it will not be perfect. If it is any other source, you can EasyBib or any of the other tools available on the media center website. These resources do not help you if you don't know what they are looking for!
Tips and Tricks	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • If you have the essence of how to cite down, you won't be guilty of plagiarism. • n.p. = no publisher, n.pag. = no pages given, n.d. = no publication date • Need to cite something not listed or need examples? Google it or visit the Purdue Online Writing Lab!

Criterion B: Knowledge and Understanding

This criterion assesses the extent to which the research relates to the subject area/discipline used to explore the research question, or in the case of the world studies extended essay, the issue addressed and the two disciplinary perspectives applied, and additionally the way in which this knowledge and understanding is demonstrated through the use of appropriate terminology and concepts.

5–6	Knowledge and understanding is excellent. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> The selection of source materials is clearly relevant and appropriate to the research question. Knowledge of the topic/discipline(s)/issue is clear and coherent and sources are used effectively and with understanding. Use of terminology and concepts is good. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> The use of subject-specific terminology and concepts is accurate and consistent, demonstrating effective knowledge and understanding.
3–4	Knowledge and understanding is good. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> The selection of source material is mostly relevant and appropriate to the research question. Knowledge of the topic/discipline(s)/issue is clear; there is an understanding of the sources used but their application is only partially effective. Use of terminology and concepts is adequate. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> The use of subject-specific terminology and concepts is mostly accurate, demonstrating an appropriate level of knowledge and understanding. If the topic or research question is deemed inappropriate for the subject in which the essay is registered no more than four marks can be awarded for this criterion.
1–2	Knowledge and understanding is limited. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> The selection of source material has limited relevance and is only partially appropriate to the research question. Criterion C: Critical Thinking

This criterion assesses the extent to which critical-thinking skills have been used to analyze and evaluate the research undertaken.

10–12	The research is excellent. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> The research is appropriate to the research question and its application is consistently relevant. Analysis is excellent. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> The research is analyzed effectively and clearly focused on the research question; the inclusion of less relevant research does not significantly detract from the quality of the overall analysis. Conclusions to individual points of analysis are effectively supported by the evidence. Discussion/evaluation is excellent. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> An effective and focused reasoned argument is developed from the research with a conclusion reflective of the evidence presented.

	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> This reasoned argument is well structured and coherent; any minor inconsistencies do not hinder the strength of the overall argument or the final or summative conclusion. The research has been critically evaluated.

The research has been evaluated, and this is partially critical.
4–6	The research is adequate. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> Some research presented is appropriate and its application is partially relevant to the Research question. Analysis is adequate. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> There is analysis but this is only partially relevant to the research question; the inclusion of irrelevant research detracts from the quality of the argument. The argument may lack clarity and coherence but this does not significantly hinder understanding. Where there is a final or summative conclusion, this is only partially consistent with the arguments/evidence presented. The research has been evaluated but not critically.
1–3	The research is limited. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> The research presented is limited and its application is not clearly relevant to the RQ. Analysis is limited. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> Where there are conclusions to individual points of analysis these are limited and not consistent with the evidence. Discussion/evaluation is limited. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> An argument is outlined but this is limited, incomplete, descriptive or narrative in nature. The construction of an argument is unclear and/or incoherent in structure hindering understanding. Where there is a final conclusion, it is limited and not consistent with the arguments/evidence presented. There is an attempt to evaluate the research, but this is superficial. If the topic or research question is deemed inappropriate for the subject in which the essay is registered no more than three marks can be awarded for this criterion.
0	The work does not reach a standard outlined by the descriptors below.

Criterion D: Presentation

Layout considerations are present and applied correctly. The structure and layout support the reading, understanding and evaluation of the extended essay.
1–2	Presentation is acceptable. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> The structure of the essay is generally appropriate in terms of the expected conventions for the topic, argument and subject in which the essay is registered. Some layout considerations may be missing or applied incorrectly. Weaknesses in the structure and/or layout do not significantly impact the reading, understanding or evaluation of the extended essay.
0	The work does not reach a standard outlined by the descriptors below.

Criterion E: Engagement

This criterion assesses the student’s engagement with their research focus and the research process. It will be applied by the examiner at the end of the assessment of the essay, and is based solely on the candidate’s reflections as detailed on the Planning and Progress Form (PPF), with the mentor’s comments and extended essay itself as context.

5–6	Engagement is excellent. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> Reflections on decision-making and planning are evaluative and include reference to the student’s capacity to consider actions and ideas in response to challenges experienced in the research process. These reflections communicate a high degree of intellectual and personal engagement with the research focus and process of research, demonstrating authenticity, intellectual initiative and/or creative approach in the student voice.
3–4	Engagement is good. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> Reflections on decision-making and planning are analytical and include reference to conceptual understanding and skill development. EE Predicted Grades: Assessment Grade Descriptors (Next Page)

Grade A

Demonstrates effective research skills resulting in a well-focused and appropriate research question that can be explored within the scope of the chosen topic; effective engagement with relevant research areas, methods and sources; excellent knowledge and understanding of the topic in the wider context of the relevant discipline; the effective application of source material and correct use of subject-specific terminology and/or concepts further supporting this; consistent and relevant conclusions that are proficiently analyzed; sustained reasoned argumentation supported effectively by evidence; critically evaluated research; excellent presentation of the essay, whereby coherence and consistency further supports the reading of the essay; and present and correctly applied structural and layout elements. Engagement with the process is conceptual and personal, key decision-making during the research process is documented, and personal reflections are evidenced, including those that are forward-thinking.

Grade B

Demonstrates appropriate research skills resulting in a research question that can be explored within the scope of the chosen topic; reasonably effective engagement with relevant research areas, methods and sources; good knowledge and understanding of the topic in the wider context of the relevant discipline; a reasonably effective application of source material and use of subject-specific terminology and/or concepts; consistent conclusions that are accurately analyzed; reasoned argumentation often supported by evidence; research that at times evidences critical evaluation; and a clear presentation of all structural and layout elements, which further supports the reading of the essay. Engagement with the process is generally evidenced by the reflections and key decision-making during the research process is documented.

Grade C

Demonstrates evidence of research undertaken, which has led to a research question that is not necessarily expressed in a way that can be explored within the scope of the chosen topic; partially effective engagement with mostly appropriate research areas, methods and sources—however, there are some discrepancies in those processes, although these do not interfere with the planning and approach; some knowledge and understanding of the topic in the wider context of the discipline, which is mostly relevant; the attempted application of source material and appropriate terminology and/or concepts; an attempted synthesis of research results with partially relevant analysis; conclusions partly supported by the evidence; discussion that is descriptive rather than analytical; attempted evaluation; satisfactory presentation of the essay, with weaknesses that do not hinder the reading of the essay; and some structural and layout elements that are missing or are incorrectly applied. Engagement with the process is evidenced but shows mostly factual information, with personal reflection mostly limited to procedural issues.

Grade D

Demonstrates a lack of research, resulting in unsatisfactory focus and a research question that is not answerable within the scope of the chosen topic; at times engagement with appropriate research, methods and sources, but discrepancies in those processes that occasionally interfere with the planning and approach; some relevant knowledge and understanding of the topic in the wider context of the discipline, which are at times irrelevant; the attempted application of source material, but with inaccuracies in the use of, or underuse of, terminology and/or concepts; irrelevant analysis and inconsistent conclusions as a result of a descriptive discussion; a lack of evaluation; presentation of the essay that at times is illogical and hinders the reading; and structural and layout elements that are missing. Engagement with the process is evidenced but is superficial, with personal reflections that are solely narrative and concerned with procedural elements.

Grade E (failing condition)

Demonstrates an unclear nature of the essay; a generally unsystematic approach and resulting unfocused research question; limited engagement with limited research and sources; generally limited and only partially accurate knowledge and understanding of the topic in the wider context of the relevant discipline; ineffective connections in the application of source material and inaccuracies in the terminology and/or concepts used; a summarizing of results of research with inconsistent analysis; an attempted outline of an argument, but one that is generally descriptive in nature; and a layout that generally lacks or incorrectly applies several layout and structural elements. Engagement with the process is limited, with limited factual or decision-making information and no personal reflection on the process.

- Do the page numbers on the table of contents match the pages in the actual paper?
- Does the paper use a consistent, standard citation style throughout? (Ideally, MLA format, but APA is fine.)
- Is there a sharply focused research question that is clearly stated on the title page and in the introduction?
- Does it fit the subject area it has been submitted to? REREAD the pages in the packet from IB World to be sure!
- Is it an interesting topic or at least an interesting take or twist on a familiar topic?
- Is it possible to answer the question effectively in a paper of 4,000 words or is the topic too broad?
- In the introduction, did you clearly state the research question, explain the significance of the topic and indicate why your research question was worth discussing?
- Were a variety of quality sources used?
- Did you follow a methodical course of investigation when answering your research question?
- Do you appear to thoroughly understand your chosen topic?
- Did you appear to read enough background information before attempting to answer your research question?
- Did you write a logical, reasoned argument that backs up your research question?
- Does the argument build to a logical conclusion?
- If you used subheadings in their paper, did you use them effectively and keep them from breaking up the flow of the argument or should they be removed?
- Did you describe when you should have been analyzing?
- Did you appear to present insight into your subject area (not just regurgitating facts)?
- Did you rely on your sources to do all the analysis or did you engage personally with the topic and come up with your own analysis and evaluation?
- Did you use language in a fluent and eloquent way, including the specific language of your chosen subject?
- Does the conclusion refrain from just repeating the points made in the introduction or the body of the paper? Does it instead synthesis their findings?
- Do you refrain from resorting to generalizations or clichés in the conclusion?
- Did the essay go over 3,000 words but stay within the 4,000 word limit?
- Did you notice any plagiarism issues? LACK OF IN-TEXT CITATION OR WORKS CITED WOULD AUTOMATICALLY EARN YOU AN E FOR PLAGIARISM!
- Did you notice any grammar or spelling issues?

VIVA VOCE (FINAL MEETING)

Viva Voce is a fancy name for an oral exam/ defense of a piece of writing. In the extended essay process, it is the final meeting between the supervising teacher and the student mentee.

What is the goal of the Viva Voce?

The supervising teacher has to fill out a supervisor's reflection and declaration on your reflection document before it is sent to IB World. The purpose of the Viva Voce is to provide the supervising teacher with an opportunity to ask the students any questions they need to ask to be able to fill out the reflection. This reflection asks the supervising teacher to respond to the following:

"Please comment, as appropriate, on the candidate's performance, the context in which the candidate undertook the research for the extended essay, any difficulties encountered and how they were overcome (see page 13 of the extended essay guide). The concluding interview (viva voce) may provide useful information. These comments can help the examiner award a level for criterion K (holistic judgment). Do not comment on any adverse personal circumstances that may have affected the candidate. If the amount of time spent with the candidate was zero, you must explain this, in particular how it was then possible to authenticate the essay as the candidate's own work."

It also asks the supervising teacher to sign that they have read the final paper and to indicate how many hours they spent with the candidate discussing the progress of the extended essay (e-mails, texts, etc. can count in the hours).

How does the student prepare for the Viva Voce?

If the student has completed an authentic research process, he or she should be prepared to answer questions about the paper, resources and process without any additional preparation. However, once the paper is in, we ask students to go back to www.turnitin.com and complete a short reflection. We also strongly encourage students to predict their own grade using the rubric on the website so that they can discuss their possible score with their supervising teacher. Most mentors will also want the student to bring a printed copy of the final essay to the meeting.

What questions does the mentor ask during the Viva Voce?

No essay should be authenticated if the supervisor believes it contains plagiarism, so mentors should ask questions that will help them be assured there is no plagiarism in the paper. In addition, the mentor should ask questions that will allow them to understand the student's process. Here are some questions the mentor may want to ask:

- On page XYZ you cite Z. Could you tell me more about this source? What did you learn from it?
- I am not clear what you mean on page XYZ. Could you explain it a little more?
- Which source did you find most helpful for your paper? Why?
- How did writing this paper cement your understanding of XYZ?
- Can you login to turnitin.com so we can look at your originality report together?
- What grade do you think this paper will earn? Let's look at the rubric together.
- What have been the high and low points of the extended essay process for you?
- What were the most interesting aspects of the process?
- Did you discover anything that surprised you?
- What have you learned through writing this essay?
- Is there any advice you would want to pass on to someone just starting out on an extended essay?
- What do you think we should change about our school process?
- Is there anything else that you would particularly like me to mention in my report to IB World?

Unless there are particular problems with academic honesty, the viva voce should be a positive experience. Completion of a major piece of work such as the extended essay is something for students to feel good about.

SCHS EE PARENT Contract

(Turn in to Mrs. Capiello in the IB Office.)

As a parent of a student writing the extended essay I understand that:

- The IB Extended Essay is a requirement for an IB Diploma.
- The IB Extended Essay is intended to be an independent research project completed by the student. IB places limits on what and how any adults can help an IB candidate with their Extended Essay. Parents and other adults should be careful to not do extensive editing or revision of portions of their student's paper.
- The student has a mentor and an EE Coordinator they can use as resources, but the student is responsible for taking the initiative in getting help and understanding all requirements. If the student never contacts the mentor or meets deadlines, it is not the mentor's responsibility to chase him or her down.
- The student is expected to spend approximately 40 hours outside of school on this work.
- The student is expected to meet all deadlines in order to stay in good standing with IB.
- The student will need to consult academic works and may need to go to libraries or conduct fieldwork etc. on their own time.
- The student will be expected to complete the majority of the project over the summer.
- If the student fails to meet with his or her supervisor, the paper will not be submitted to IB World.

Teacher Mentors Agree To:

- Be accessible for consultation on a scheduled basis
- Provide subject specific guidance
- Provide verbal feedback on 1 draft version of the essay
- Conduct scheduled meetings and a final interview (Viva Voce), but the student is responsible for initiating contact and asking for help.
- Spend approximately 3-5 hours total mentoring and evaluating the extended essay

I have read and understand the regulations and guidelines for the International Baccalaureate Extended Essay. I will offer my parental support to see that my child adheres to the regulations and guidelines and the deadlines prescribed in the contract. I understand that students must complete the extended essay to continue enrollment in the IB curriculum, have recommendations written based on IB candidacy and be registered for May exams. I understand that students will be put on probation and/or be removed from the IB program at any point if they are not meeting EE deadlines. I understand that while all students are provided a teacher supervisor for support, the Extended Essay is ultimately an individual project on the part of the student and that failure to complete a quality Extended Essay can result in a failing condition for the IB diploma. I understand that the IB guide to ethical standards dictates that ANY plagiarism is malpractice and that the student will not receive an IB diploma if plagiarism is detected.
